ZAM-BUK
SAVED THIS BABY

Mr. M. Barrett,
 174 Main St.,
 Montreal, says:

"A horrid rash came out all over my baby's face and spread until it had totally covered his scalp. It was irritating and painful, and caused the little one hours of suffering. We tried soaps and powders and salves, but he got no better. He refused his food, got quite thin and worn, and was reduced to a very serious condition. I was advised to try Zam-Buk, and did so. It was wonderful how it seemed to cool and ease the child's burning, painful skin. Zam-Buk from the very commencement seemed to go right to the spot, and the rashes and sores and the irritation grew less and less. Within a few weeks my baby's skin was healed completely. He has now not a trace of rash, or eruption, or eczema, or burning skin. Not only so, but cured of the following skin trouble, he has improved in general health."

Beware of Quaintments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is tenfold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and cures all catarrhs of the head and throat. It is taken internally and acts on the mucous surfaces. Sold by druggists. Price, the per bottle.

"Do you ever lose that umbrella of yours?" I asked the nation.

"No," I don't," replied the nation.

"Why not?" asked the nation.

TUNNEL OR BRIDGE?

Sir Robert Perks Thinks the Former Would Be Better at Quebec.

The question as to whether the ill-fated Quebec bridge should be replaced by a tunnel instead of by another vertical structure was discussed by Sir Robert Perks, Bart., in an interview with The Standard.

In view of the fact that tenders will be called early in May for the construction of a bridge the plans of which are being submitted to the Scientific American, the question is one of great public importance. There are few men more competent than Sir Robert Perks to pronounce on the relative merits of bridge versus tunnel, for the firm of which he is the head has carried out some of the greatest engineering works of modern times, including the Manchester Ship Canal and the famous Severn Tunnel. His firm also prepared the plans for the now defunct scheme of building the Channel Tunnel between England and France, which scheme was killed by the War Office, while the firm is now completing the first tunnel through the Andes, to connect Argentina and Chile by rail.

The proposal to construct a tunnel instead of the proposed Quebec bridge is a perfectly feasible one," said Sir Robert recently, "and undoubtedly in the long run a tunnel would prove the more satisfactory solution. The St. Lawrence River at that point is no wider than the Severn River at the point where the Channel Tunnel was to be constructed, about eight miles long, and took four years to build. I am of the opinion that a tunnel and approaches for the St. Lawrence River would have to be about the same length. One of the chief difficulties to be encountered, however, in replacing the bridge by a tunnel, is the fact that the railways would have to make use of it have all been built on the high level, and the grades would have to be changed for tremendous distances.

As to the question of cost, the bridge would cost, I should judge, $12,500,000, and you can safely put the cost of a tunnel at three times the cost of a bridge. The Severn Tunnel cost $25,000,000.

How does the cost of maintenance compare?" Sir Robert was asked. "The maintenance of a tunnel is very much less than the maintenance of a bridge," he replied. "With a bridge there is a very large annual sum to be spent for maintenance, and then you have to consider that a bridge shows continual deterioration. With a tunnel, these conditions apply to a much more modified extent, so that in the long run a tunnel is cheaper to maintain than a bridge."

A Practical Paragon.

Aethelred Harris, honorary chaplain to the King and late chaplain of the fleet and inspector of naval schools, can tell a good story—what other cannot?—and one of his most amusing memories is of the old-time captain who, having to take Divine Service in the absence of the chaplain, gave out his text, "Floodlines are next to godliness," immediately adding "Bo-sun's mate: pipe hands clean guns."

Then there is the story of the religious malingeringer who sought to escape church on the plea that he was tired to worship alone.

"Very well," said the captain of the ship, "let the sailmaker make him a little tent in which he can sit and say his prayers by himself."

Two Sundays in the tent under charge of a quartette sang, and were enough for the shirker, who had a sudden conversion and joined his comrades at service.

Death-Dealing Machines.

The 12-inch gun with which the Dreadnoughts are armed could shell the Crystal Palace from Highgate, seven times enough, and around it, enough, four of the Dreadnought's guns placed, let us say, on Climpson Hill, Herne Hill, Highgate Hill, and the Tower of London, could reduce London to ruins. These same at three and a half miles would pierce a yard of iron and a foot and a half of steel. The shell of the 12-inch gun weighs 850 pounds, and it would go through an iron plate 17 inches thick thirteen miles away. At the same distance (24,000 yards) it would pierce nine inches of Krupp cemented armor.

The Answer.

Why does she long for worry?
 Why does she wish to die?
 Why does she seek the busy throng?
 Why does she strain her eyes to see?
 The answer surely is writ,
 "Because she does." That settles it.

Why does she seek the power
 That lesser mortals vainly strive for?
 When man would fain allow her
 The right to call her "Madam" or "My dear,"
 Oh, swift reply! "Oh, cold rebuff!"
 "Because she does." And that's enough.

Only Lost Two

 "Oh, at least fifty times, I should say."
 "And how many cases have you lost?"
 "Only two. One of them went into bankruptcy and the other died without leaving a dollar."

It Is Wise to Prevent Disorder.

Many causes lead to disorders of the stomach and bowels are free from them. At the first manifestation that the stomach and liver are not performing their functions, a course of Parmed's Vegetable Pills should be tried, and it will be found that the digestive organs will speedily resume healthy action. Laxatives and sedatives are so blent in these pills that no other preparation could be so effective as they.

Got His Instead

A company-promoter advertised for an office boy. He received a hundred replies. Out of the hundred he selected ten, and with the writers of these ten replies he had a personal interview. His final choice fell upon a bright young man, to whom he said: "My boy, I like your appearance and your manner very much. I think you may do for the place. Did you bring a character?" "No, sir," replied the boy. "I can go home and get it." "Very well; come back tomorrow morning with it, and it is satisfactory." I thought that a character was a thing that a man carried with him. Late that afternoon the promoter was surprised by the return of the candidate. "Well," he said, "bring your character?" "No," answered the boy; "that I've got yours—my I ain't coming."

The Smart Lawyer Again

"This man is not insane," said the lawyer, "and never has been. To keep him in an asylum is a blow, sir, directed against human rights, an assault upon the sacred institution of liberty, and—"

"But did you not prove last week, when he was on trial for murder, that he had been born with a raving lunatic?" interposed the court.

The lawyer smiled in a superior way. "Surely," he said, "your honor would not have it believed that this court is on the intellectual plane of that jury."

Two Years Sickness in The Average Life

Much of this is Avoided When the Blood is Kept Rich With DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

It is said that the average man or woman who reaches seventy years of age has had two years of sickness or ten days for each year.

Today's medical experts are studying how to avoid this and the general opinion seems to be that every effort should be used to keep the blood rich, and healthy and strong in its treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

There are always plenty of indications to warn you when the blood is getting weak and watery and the nerves exhausted.

You are easily tired, both mentally and bodily, you feel downhearted and discouraged, digestion fails you, you have headaches and become irritable and easily annoyed.

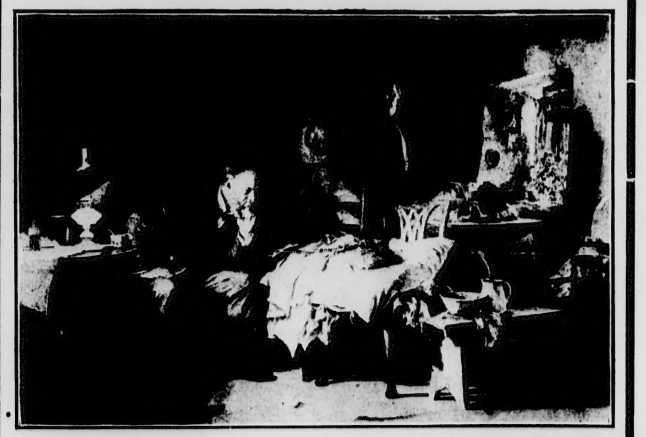

In this condition you easily contract colds, pneumonia, fevers of some kind and are not able to throw them off as you would if the blood were rich and the body in vigorous health.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food has proven an enormous benefit, because of its power to form rich, red blood and thereby to overcome weakness and disease. 50 cts. a box, all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Each grate bar has three sides-long wear

When only one side of a grate bar is continually next to the fire all the wear is concentrated on that one side. The life of the grate bar is thus naturally just one-third as long as when the wear is distributed on three sides.

That explains why Sunshine grates have three lives. Each of the four grate bars has three sides. Each time the ashes are "rocked down" (no shaking with Sunshine) the side next to the fire can be changed. Thus the life of the grates is greatly prolonged.

When desired, the heavy ball dog teeth on the grates will seize hold of clinkers, grind them up, and drop the particles into the ash-pan.

The Coming Fall Fair

Now is the time we need to be stir ourselves, so as to ensure that this year's Agricultural Fair eclipses its predecessor. We are justly proud of our past successes and achievements, but the desire to attain still greater things is characteristic of institutions as well as of individuals. Thus it is that we bespeak on behalf of the Agricultural Society, the heartiest co-operation of our merchants and citizens, and above all, of every farmer in the district, on whom directly rests its success or failure.

Unlike many districts in the Province, we have been comparatively blessed with nature's bounties, and with high market prices there is every likelihood that prosperity will abound on all sides. If for no other reason therefore, we should each and all endeavour to make the Agricultural Fair of 1910 a crowning success in our town's history.

The farmers have ample opportunities of establishing a record in exhibition entries, and we hope some of our merchants will be able to display part of their wares at the booths on the grounds.

Let us exert all our energies, and the result of combined effort will bring about the consummation of the Society's most cherished wishes.

Will Build Main Line First

Red Deer, Aug. 20.—A delegation of the Red Deer council met Mr. Smithers, president, and Mr. Hayes, general manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company at Red Deer today, with a view of inducing the Grand Trunk Pacific Co. to build a branch into Red Deer from their Calgary branch which runs twenty-five miles east of the town. The delegation was informed that the company were striving to get their main line completed first and that when that was completed branch lines would be considered.

Mr. Hayes commented on the rapid and steady growth he had noticed in Red Deer during the past five years and intimated what the town should do to get a branch—Albertan.

At the Methodist General Conference held in Vancouver last week it was decided that a new preparatory college should be placed at Calgary. Lethbridge fought hard to have it located in that city.

Frost & Wood
No. 3 Binder
does Better Work

Because of the Eccentric Sprocket Wheel the No. 3 Binder makes a neater, more tightly compressed bundle and saves considerable twine. Discharges the bundle faster, too, than the ordinary binder. Remember, no other binder has the Eccentric Sprocket Wheel. Neither is any other binder so light in draft. At all points where there is a possibility of friction occurring the makers of No. 3 Binder have provided Large Roller Bearings. That's why the Frost & Wood No. 3 runs so smoothly and easily—one reason why it gives so many more years of service. Another reason for its great durability is the strong, powerful construction of its back bone, which we would like to explain to you fully. Drop in at your earliest convenience and talk things over with us. We are confident that the Frost & Wood No. 3 is the binder for you. Give us a chance to prove it.

Try the Money-Back Cure for Indigestion

Nine times in ten stomach derangements are responsible for sallow complexion, dull eyes and thin body.

It is the stomach that supplies nourishing food to the muscles, the nerves, and skin. If the stomach is healthy, plenty of nutritious matter will be absorbed by the blood. If it is not healthy, the food will ferment, and undigested, will pass along through the bowels, furnishing so little nutritious matter that the blood becomes impoverished, and the glow of health vanishes.

If you suffer from nervousness, sick head ache, lack of energy, sour taste in the mouth, heaviness after eating, or any other miserable stomach disturbance, you need H. W. Chambers, and the sooner you get it the quicker you will be healthier and happier.

It will relieve any distressed stomach condition almost immediately. It will cure if used according to directions. H. W. Chambers sells it for 50 cents a large box, and he thinks enough of it to guarantee it to cure indigestion.

The Mission of the Children's Aid Society

A Children's Aid Society or a Committee empowered to act under the Children's Protection Act of Alberta should be at work in every town and village in the Province to attend promptly to cases of child neglect or cruelty, and to act in the capacity of protection officers or friends to the boys and girls who are in need of the helpful advice that only an older person can give.

The work of the Children's Aid Society is:

To rescue homeless, abused or neglected children at the earliest possible age, from their unfortunate surroundings.

The finding of foster homes for children in need of such homes and the continuing of a watchful care over any children placed in such foster homes.

To protect society against the strongest of its foes—ignorance and vice, by the securing of good home conditions for children who would otherwise grow up under the most evil and pernicious influences.

To urge upon parents the serious results bound to accrue from the careless training or neglect of their children during the most impressionable years of early childhood.

To see that every child in the community has a chance to grow up to be a good citizen.

The home life of neglected children may be greatly improved by a little kindly intervention. That failing, there is a law in Alberta which protects helpless children from abuse or neglect and it should be applied to promptly.

Homeless children should be taken care of at once and placed either in foster homes or sent to the nearest shelter where they may be cared for until foster homes are found.

Those interested in the work of the Children's Aid Society or those who know of cases of neglect or cruelty to children, or know of a home where a little child will be welcomed, are invited to write to the Superintendent of Neglected Children for Alberta, Edmonton.

Not Pessimistic Over Crop

Ottawa Free Press: Hon. Frank Oliver, minister of the Interior, returned to Ottawa for a few hours, and proceeded to Quebec to meet Mrs. Oliver and their daughters, who are due there tomorrow.

The minister, who looks well tanned after his record-breaking trip to the Yukon by the overland route, is quite enthusiastic over the success of Sir Wilfred Laurier's tour of the west, and especially with Alberta's share in the reception of the premier.

Like other old-timers of the west, he is not inclined to take a pessimistic view of the crop situation.

"It might have been better, but again it might have been far worse, and on the whole our folks will pull through all right," was the way in which Mr. Oliver put the case.

After returning to Ottawa on Saturday the minister will spend a few days here catching up with the arrears of business before going west again. Calgary Herald.

Keep a Checking Account

Put your private expenditures on a business basis, and pay your bills by cheques on the Traders Bank.

Then you are never short of cash to make a payment demanded unexpectedly. Nor do you need to bother with receipts—your cheques provide them automatically.

There's a prestige, too, in paying by cheque, that is well worth while.
